FIND PLANE AND BODIES OF MEN SMITH STRIKES AT OPPOSITION

AL TAKES UP HAMMER WHEN FAIR STARTS

Visit To State Exposition
Brings N. Y. Governor's
First Campaign Talk.

By THOMAS L. STOKES
U. P. Staff Correspondent.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 30.—Governor Alfred E. Smith was on parade here today as a fighting presidential candidate before thousands who thronged the state fair from surrounding Republican strongholds to see their chief executive in his new role.

He brought here a challenge to Republican supremacy in what turned out to be the opening speech of his campaign, a denunciation of Republican criticism that his administration has been costly, which his opponents are using, and an appeal for reduction in cost of local government, which he urged as an indirect method of farm relief.

The Democratic candidate struck directly at the opposition in a vigorous impromptu speech in his fiery campaign manner, known for long, at the annual "Farm Dinner" given by Jerome D. Barnum, publisher of the Syracuse Post-Standard, at the Onondaga County club after midnight this morning.

"He indicated he expects Republicans to play strongly their charges of 'extravagance,' in his conduct of state government, and that he will meet it in a vigorous, direct way. He also made it plain he will emphasize reduction of 'overhead' in town and county government as one of various indirect forms of farm relief."

"I seriously say to men who want to reduce the cost of overhead of the farms that they should look into the cost of local state government he told the agricultural leaders, officials and editors."

The governor moved about among the crowds here for his appearance at the State fair, the center of keen interest.

Before he went to the gaily decorated fair grounds, he turned his attention to state politics. He was to attend the meeting today of the Democratic state committee which formally will select M. Williams as state chairman to succeed Lieutenant Governor Edwin Corning, who resigned recently because of ill health.

James A. Farley, chairman of the State Athletic commission, will be chosen secretary of the committee.

The Democratic candidate and cussed various phases of the coming state campaign, as well as the national campaign, with Democratic leaders here to attend the state committee meeting. He talked with them regarding the prospects of making inroads in to such Republican territory as this part of the state.

The Democratic candidate and Mrs. Smith are scheduled to go to the fair grounds today to look over the various exhibits, and have lunch there. Mrs. Smith will be the guest of the women of the fair association.

Smith was undecided early today whether he would make a speech at the fair grounds. He does not like to speak in the open air with the multitude may prove too tempting.

He and Mrs. Smith plan to return to Albany late this afternoon where the governor intends to devote the next week after his Labor Day holiday, to formulation of the budget and other state business.

OPINION HELD UP ON GAS RATES OF LOGAN COMPANY

Until Engineers Complete Appraisal of Property Valuation.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 30.—Members of the state utilities commission will withhold their opinion in the Logan Gas Co. rate until commission engineers have completed their appraisal of the property valuation, Commissioner James Huffman said today.

When the appraisal is completed it will be released, together with the legal opinion of commission members.

Engineers are working to speed up the property appraisal, inasmuch as the commission is now ready to announce its findings, Commissioner Huffman said.

It was indicated that the commission, in addition to denying the company's claims of going-concern value, will make a large slice in the company's value on leaseholds.

While commissioners refused to be quoted, it was apparent the company will be allowed to place in its valuation only productive wells from which the company is actually extracting gas and not wells which the company has under lease but which are not producing gas.

BODIES FOUND NOT FAR FROM WRECKED SHIP

M. M. Merrill and Edwin Ronne Believed To Have Died In Air Blast

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., Aug. 30.—The bodies of M. M. Merrill, manager of the Curtiss Flying Service, and Edwin Ronne, manager of the Buffalo flying field, were found today near the ruins of Col. Chas. Lindbergh's airplane.

Both bodies were badly mangled. Officials here said the position of the bodies established the fact that the Falcon bi-plane had exploded in the air while they were flying to New York from Buffalo.

Searching through dense underbrush, parties found the plane five miles from the estate of former Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania. It had plunged nose downward into soft earth and was wrecked completely. The bodies were found a short distance away.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Aug. 30.—Spurred on by the finding of two victims of the missing Ford tri-motored Victoria-San Francisco passenger monoplane, searchers today continued dragging Discovery Bay for the bodies of five others who were in the plane when it was last seen.

Fragments of the plane also were found, which in the opinion of experts undoubtedly indicated the seven passengers lost their lives.

The bodies recovered yesterday were those of Mrs. Alexander M. Scott, London, and Floyd D. Severel, East Orange, N. J.

Those still missing are: A. M. Scott, London; Pilot Harold Walker, Seattle; Relief Pilot L. Carson, Victoria; Dr. D. B. Holden, Victoria, and Thomas F. Lake, San Francisco.

Herald Man Sees Air Pilot's Last Demonstration

Ronne is one of two recently killed in a plane crash and this was his last demonstration, witnessed by the Circleville man.

By special arrangement with the Curtiss Airplane Co., Lt. Ronne demonstrated the special Curtiss Falcon plane.

This plane was built especially for Col. Lindbergh, and had a speed of 160 miles per hour, capable of climbing at the rate of 1700 feet per minute.

Lt. Ronne took to the air as soon as the delegation reached the field and after a very short takeoff ascended almost perpendicular for several thousand feet.

He then did some spectacular flying and showed the spectators the speed that could be attained with this Falcon plane.

Lt. Ronne was very popular with the people of Buffalo, a very democratic fellow, and was pleased to give this demonstration for the visitors to Buffalo.

NAME NEW HEAD AT OHIO SCHOOL

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 30.—Dr. Edmund Davison Soper, vice president of Duke University and dean of the School of Religion there, will take office as president of Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, early this fall, it was announced today following his unanimous selection by the board of trustees to succeed Dr. John W. Hoffman, who recently resigned because of ill health.

Dr. Soper was professor of missions and comparative religion at Wesleyan from 1910 to 1914. He held a similar post at Drew Theological Seminary from 1914 to 1919, when he went to Northwestern University as professor of the history of religion in the graduate schools.

CRITES OPPOSES PENNSY'S TRAIN REMOVAL IN CITY

Appeals to Ohio Utilities Commission, Hitting High Rate of Fares.

(Special to Herald)

Columbus, O., Aug. 30.—H. M. Crites & Son, of Circleville, today wrote the state utilities commission opposing action of the Pennsylvania in proposing to remove trains 910 and 971 from service between Lancaster and Cincinnati.

"The Pennsylvania railroad," the letter stated, "procured its right-of-way through our properties and promised to give service."

"The company complains of no business, but it would be given business if it cut its passenger fares instead of four cents a mile while other common carriers carry passengers for three cents a mile."

NEW CONTROL TO GOVERN TRAFFIC

A new control known as an automatic variable timing switch was installed at the city building Thursday. The machine controls the timing of the traffic lights. The lights were off for nearly an hour while the new equipment was being placed.

The old control mechanism which has been in use for about two years was badly worn.

The traffic lights change every thirty seconds, three seconds being allowed on the amber light.

Charles T. Gilmore, local manager of the Ohio Utilities Co., installed the new switch.

BOOSE FINES MOUNT

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 30.—Liquor law violators arrested by inspectors of the State Prohibition department have paid fines amounting to $11,431,892.32, since Jan. 1, 1923, according to report prepared by State Prohibition Commissioner B. F. McDonald.

BODIES FOUND NOT FAR FROM WRECKED SHIP

M. M. Merrill and Edwin Ronne Believed To Have Died In Air Blast

PORT JERVIS, N. Y., Aug. 30.

The bodies of M. M. Merrill, manager of the Curtiss Flying Service, and Edwin Ronne, manager of the Buffalo flying field, were found today near the ruins of Col. Chas. Lindbergh's airplane.

Both bodies were badly mangled. Officials here said the position of the bodies established the fact that the Falcon bi-plane had exploded in the air while they were flying to New York from Buffalo.

Searching through dense underbrush, search parties found the plane five miles from the estate of former Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania. It had plunged nose downward into soft earth and was wrecked completely. The bodies were found a short distance away.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Aug. 30.—Spurred on by the finding of two victims of the missing Ford tri-motored, Victoria-to-Seattle passenger monoplane, searchers today continued dragging Discovery Bay for the bodies of five others who were in the plane when it was last seen.

Fragments of the plane also were found, which in the opinion of experts undoubtedly indicated the seven passengers lost their lives.

The bodies recovered yesterday were those of Mrs. Alexander M. Scott, London, and Floyd D. Severel, East Orange, N. J.

Those still missing are: A. M. Scott, London; Pilot Harold Walker, Seattle; Relief Pilot L. Carson, Victoria; Dr. D. B. Holden, Victoria, and Thomas F. Lake, San Francisco.

Herald Man Sees Air Pilot's Last Demonstration

Ronne is one of two recently killed in a plane crash and this was his last demonstration, witnessed by the Circleville man.

By special arrangement with the Curtiss Airplane Co., Lt. Ronne demonstrated the special Curtiss Falcon plane.

This plane was built especially for Col. Lindbergh, and had a speed of 160 miles per hour, capable of climbing at the rate of 1700 feet per minute.

Lt. Ronne took to the air as soon as the delegation reached the field and after a very short takeoff ascended almost perpendicular for several thousand feet. He then did some spectacular flying and showed the spectators the speed that could be attained with this Falcon plane.

Lt. Ronne was very popular with the people of Buffalo, a very democratic fellow, and was pleased to give this demonstration for the visitors to Buffalo.

GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, Aug. 30 — Bearish sentiment prevailed at the opening on the board of trade today and while prices raised slightly. September corn continued weak but deferred months held firm. Oats were little changed.

Wheat opened unchanged to 1-2 cent lower; corn ranged from 1 cent off to 1-2 cent up and oats were unchanged to 1-8 cent off. Provisions were slightly lower.

At the close yesterday, wheat traders were of the opinion that prices would work lower for a time unless weather conditions in the northwest change and buying power here improves. Liberal deliveries of cash wheat on September contracts are expected. Saturday as elevator interests are said to be well satisfied with prices. The Liverpool market today followed yesterday's decline here.

No deliveries of September corn are expected on Saturday. September has been pursuing an erratic course, fluctuating rapidly under only a light trade. Weather over the belt continues favorable except in Nebraska where firing was reported.

Oats receipts have been below expectations and the belief has prevailed that farmers are holding out for better prices. In the absence of important news the market has been following other grains.

"Konjolia turned out to be the first medicine that actually ended my suffering and I want others to know about it," said Mr. Clinton E. Wilson, 218 Yale Ave., Columbus, Ohio.

"Before I started with Konjolia, I was always feeling sick and suffering horrible miseries. The worst of these was the sharp, constant pains in my back. I was also subject to such dizzy headaches at times that I would have to leave my work and be taken home. My stomach, too, gave me a lot of trouble and nearly everything I ate disagreed with me. Then I developed rheumatism and was laid up for over a month. I was just like an invalid. The pains were in my legs and my knees were swollen. I didn't think I would ever be entirely free of pain."

"I decided to try Konjola and the relief it gave me was surprising. This medicine gave me new life energy and brought me health all over my system. Every ache and pain is now gone and my stomach and kidneys are functioning properly again. I am glad to tell others about Konjola."

OSLO NORWAY, Aug. 30 — An unconfirmed dispatch to the newspaper Aftenposten from its correspondent at Harstad today said the wreckage of Roald Amundsen's plane had been found off the Lofoten Islands, south of Tromsø.

The Astenposten's correspondent said the wreckage of a Lufthansa plane was found on one of the three northernmost islands of the Lofoten group, known as Vestertoppen. An investigation of the report was begun at once.

The Astenposten's story was so far unconfirmed from other sources late today. Some Arctic experts were inclined to doubt the report, since the plane was found so far north of its objective and even considerably south of Tromsø, from which it headed to the north on leaving.

Greatest endurance record in history of transportation

BETWEEN July 21 and August 9, four Studebaker President Eights—all fully equipped, regular factory production cars—triumphed over the severest test ever given any automobile. This 30,000 mile run—a record distance achieved in record time—was conducted under the close and constant supervision of the American Automobile Association which certified each car to be a strictly stock model. In fact, all four motors and chassis were selected, not by Studebaker, but by A. A. A. officials who picked them at random from the assembly line at the Studebaker factory. If not chosen for this test, these regular factory Presidents would have gone out to dealers and you might have bought one of them at any Studebaker showroom.

Average 68 miles per hour

All four Studebakers—two President Eight roadsters and two President Eight sedans—completed 30,000 miles each at better than mile-a-minute speed.

Both roadsters completed 30,000 miles in less than 27,000 minutes, averaging better than 68 miles per hour for 19 days and 18 nights of continuous driving.

The two sedans averaged 63.99 and 64.15 miles per hour respectively for this tremendous distance.  STUDE

The fastest thousand miles of each roadster was the thirtieth—71.67 and 69.65 miles per hour! Studebaker Presidents improve with use.

Engines sealed

Of 6 seals placed on the engines of these roadsters

by American Automobile Association officials, not a single seal was broken during the 60,000 miles of running. These official seals were placed on the manifold, engine head and carburetor of each car.

Studebaker's new and exclusive ball bearing spring shackles went through the entire 120,000 miles of running without a single adjustment, without the addition of any lubricant, and were functioning perfectly at the end of the run.

What it proves

The Studebaker President's new record of 30,000 miles in 26,326 minutes is a feat unapproached in the history of transportation. It proves beyond doubt or question that The President Eight is an expression of engineering genius without peer in the automotive world. It is evidence of the inexhaustible resources of Studebaker performance—of high quality materials, precision manufacture, skilled workmanship and rigid inspections.

Why be satisfied with less?

You can pay more than Studebaker prices, but in no other car at any price can you buy more stamina or more finely balanced performance than in Studebaker's President Eight. And back of every One-Profit Studebaker is 76 years of manufacturing integrity.

Don't wait until November 6 to select your President—DO IT NOW!

CANDIDATE WANTS TO LOSE OFFICE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—The unique spectacle of a candidate for public office practically asking his own defeat was witnessed last night when James A. Edgerton of Virginia, accepted the vice-presidential nomination of the prohibition party.

Most of Edgerton's speech at Ft. Lyon, Va., near here, was devoted to attacks on Governor Alfred E. Smith and pleas for the election of Herbert Hoover. He urged the prohibition party to withdraw its ticket in doubtful states where Hoover's vote might be split by the dry party's electors.

Edward Snyder, 16, Monroe-twp. won first in the open class and junior reserve champion for the show with his Chester White gilt.

The Logan Elm Food club won second place in the food club poster contest. Mrs. B. W. Young is leader.

The Jackson-Twp. Clothing club won 11th place on an exhibit of two dresses suitable for school. The leader of the club is Miss Mary Shortridge.

The Magic Sewing club of Walnut-twp. took fifth place on an outfit suitable for a club girl. Leader, Mrs. J. B. Cronley.

In the county farm bureau exhibits at the Ohio State fair, three counties prepared exhibits to show the types of organized farm programs which they were conducting for the advancement of agriculture. They were: Logan, Clinton and Franklin counties.

The exhibits showed co-operative marketing, collective purchasing service, boys and girls' club work and the improvement of live stock and crops which were being conducted.

When the awards were placed Logan-co. was first; Clinton second and Franklin-co. third.

This will recall in the minds of Pickaway-co. farmers their exhibit of last year when they scored first.

CANDIDATE WANTS TO LOSE OFFICE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—The unique spectacle of a candidate for public office practically asking his own defeat was witnessed last night when James A. Edgerton of Virginia, accepted the vice-presidential nomination of the prohibition party.

Most of Edgerton's speech at Ft. Lyon, Va., near here, was devoted to attacks on Governor Alfred E. Smith and pleas for the election of Herbert Hoover. He urged the prohibition party to withdraw its ticket in doubtful states where Hoover's vote might be split by the dry party's electors.

All were given preliminary hearings before Squire Hoover, of Ashville, and pleaded not guilty. The case was continued until Friday.

The men are said to have caused a disturbance at the canning factory.

FILE SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Mrs. Evelyn Patterson, wife of Frederick B. Patterson, has filed a suit for divorce against her husband in Dayton.

She charges gross neglect of duty and desertion. The suit was brought in the Common Pleas Court of Montgomery-co. Mr. Patterson is president of the National Cash Register Company and is a multi-millionaire.

The couple was married at Dayton, Jan. 3, 1917. They have since their marriage adopted two children, Frederick B. and Evelyn B.

The history of the Patterson family reads like a romance. They came from Coalton, a mining town, to Dayton. Their fathers, who were miners, bought out the original patents, and acquired others, and placed a machine on the market, that is now used in all lands. A FORGOTTEN PATH
The little path where once
I trod, a boy—
Running across the road
To fairyland
Where dwelt a thousand
Forest Ghosts of Fancies;
And also ran
My little Brook of Dreams—
Ah, where is it!
And then—
There in the dusty
Road
Where once it passed,
I saw the answer
Written in a million
Sordid footprints—
An army passing by,
Just yesterday,
Had carried Fancies
And my little path
Away!

COUNTRY CLUB'S DELEGATION HAS REAL CORN ROAST
Enjoy Party Staged by Jackson Club; Many Attend From This City.

Members of the Pickaway Country Club who went to the corn roast and barbecue at Jackson Wednesday, enjoyed the big day and all the entertainment that had been planned by the Jackson Country Club committee. Mr. Felix Caldwell and Mr. Walter Kinder went to the club early in the morning and played golf, while some of the other local members joined in the game in the afternoon.

The women from Circleville played bridge in the afternoon, and everyone enjoyed the splendid dinner in the evening, and the dancing and music that followed.

HOLD RITES FOR MR. PETERS TODAY

Honorary pallbearers for George S. Peters, former Columbus mayor and retired attorney and also native of Pickaway-co. who died Monday at his home, 391 E. Broad st. are: William R. Pomeroy, James L. Boulger and David T. Keating, former partners; Frederick W. Freeman, Charles W. Miller, Judge John E. Slater, George T. Spahr, Ralph E. Hoffines, Harry W. Runkle, Frank Talmadge, William B. Morris and William Harvey Jones.

Funeral services were held at 4 p. m. Thursday at the residence Rev. Frank H. Throop of Central Presbyterian church officiating. Burial was in Green Lawn cemetery by the Schoedinger Co.

The deceased was a former resident of this county. He was born in Madison-twp. just across the road from the home of J. R. Noecker of this city.

Augustus Caesar named his birth month after himself, and in order to have the lucky 31 days in it, stole a day from February and tucked it onto his month, calling it August. Subsequently, to satisfy his friends who complained that this made too many days in the third quarter of the year, he withdrew Sept. 31 to Oct. 31 and, to keep the odd and even sequence changed Nov. 31 to Dec. 31.

Love's Ecstasy
by May Christie

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.
A LENA RAY, pretty country girl, working in New York as a stenographer, is in love with Gary Chester, young engineer. She is living with Marie de Rense and the latter's young, sophisticated sister, Goldie. Goldie and Clive Mortimer, ne'er-do-well Englishman, arrange a party for Smithson, wealthy rounder. Goldie, jealous of Alena, tricks her into attending the party and then notifies Chester that he will find Alena there. Alena is shocked by the "party" and tries to leave. Gary arrives and, disbelieving, takes Alena home. Alena tries to explain the distasteful situation but Gary seems unconvinced. Next day Gary finds a vanity case enclosing a $50 bill, in his pocket, a memento of Smithson's party. He returns it to Alena with a curt note.

CHAPTER XLIII.
WITH a sulky expression on her usually impudent young face, Goldie de Rense sat on the edge of the kitchen table in the basement of the house on West Fortieth street, nibbling at a cracker, sipping black coffee (she certainly required it on this "morning after") and trying not to listen to Marie!

"For once you'll hear the truth about yourself! I'm sick and tired and ashamed of your carryings on!"
"Oh, heck! Can that old stuff!"
"Don't talk to me like that! If you were only a year or two younger, I'd give you a good spanking, I declare!"
"You try it! Watch me step out forever from this old dump!"
"Stepped" is correct! A common little high-stepper who's already at eighteen—gone too fast and far! If I weren't so—so darned mad at you—I could cry about you—"

"Nix on the water works!"
"I'm in earnest, Goldie! A young girl coming into her home at four in the morning—drunk!"
The flapper tossed her red-gold head. "What if I'd had a glass or two? With all of you dead ones around, and I working like a dog to help things out for you, why rouse if once in a while I do try to put a little kick into my life?"
"You've got a home, haven't you? If you want to have a good time with your friends, why don't you ask them to come here?"
Miss Goldie sniffed, impatiently. "Huh? This old idea? Fine time they'd have here, it's like a morgue!"
"It's the best I can give you, Goldie! Marie, in her heart, deeply loving this wayward sister, felt almost at the breaking-point. "And I can't stand not knowing what you're doing—I fear for you so—I sit, and wonder, and think..."
"What the eye doesn't see, the heart shouldn't grieve over!" mis-

ROB RESTAURANT AT NEW HOLLAND
The restaurant of James Kennedy at New Holland was burglarized Tuesday night.
The marauders were discovered by Mr. Kennedy, who resides just across the alley from his restaurant. Shortly after retiring, Mr. Kennedy heard a suspicious noise emanating from the rear of his restaurant. He began to make a stir, but could not place his hand on his gun and while hunting for it, the burglars discovered that they were being observed and made their getaway, but not before they had hauled a heavy slot machine through a back window.
Mr. Kennedy emerged from his home just in time to see two men run down an alley. He was not able to recognize them. They left the slot machine behind. He followed them only to see them get in their car and drive off in the direction of Washington C. H. He thought they were driving a Ford coupe.

OHIO ELKS HAVE BIG PROGRAM ON TAP WEDNESDAY

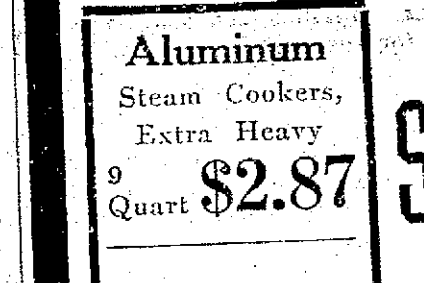

First Business Meeting Held; Ritualistic Contest For Price Cup On.

Ohio Elks' convention activities are to be divided today between Cedar Point and Sandusky. The first business session of the meet was held this morning in the convention hall here, with President James Cooper, Newark, presiding. It was devoted in the main to routine matters, such as the reports of officers and committees.

At noon the preliminaries on the ritualistic contest for the John G. Price cup was begun in the Elks' lodge rooms at Sandusky. As in other years the competition seems to lie between Cleveland and Columbus although Cincinnati lodge indicated that it might cut considerable figure.

This afternoon there will be a meeting of the past exalted rulers' association in the auditorium here, and tonight there will be an exemplification of the ritual by the lodge winning the Price cup at Sandusky, at the conclusion of which the cup will be formally presented.

DO EYES AND TEETH FUNCTION PROPERLY?

Dr. Copeland Suggests That Youngsters Should Have Good Physical Examination Before Renewing Their Long Grind of Study.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health New York City.

A FEW days ago I saw cardinal flowers growing down by the brook. This is a sure sign that school days will begin almost immediately.

The day after Labor Day is the beginning of school for most of our children. Before school is well begun is the time when every parent should give thought to the health of the young folks.

What about the eyes? Are they in good condition? Do not reach the comfortable conclusion that eyes are normal just because there is no consciousness that the vision is bad. As a matter of fact, some of the most pronounced cases of eye-strain are associated with eyes which seem to have exceptional seeing power.

In the eye is a wonderfully powerful focusing muscle. But to use this muscle every day is just like the usual pitner using his arm muscles until they refuse to go further. Then he gets a "chance arm" and can't throw at all.

The athlete may abuse his heart until it muscles give way. He develops "athletic heart" and is out of business. The eyes may seem to have perfect vision and yet be under constant strain. Headache may be pronounced and made worse by reading or sewing. There may be pain in the neck, or, strange as it may seem, stiffness at the stomach and even vomiting.

In short, eyestrain is capable of doing much harm to the mind. Most of the time, however, it is a matter of the pupil, child, or adult, is good for you too. Because of the difficulty of seeing well it is impossible to carry on the necessary studies.

But we must think of more than the eyes. What about the teeth? To keep all the time, especially at night? It is not alone the dentist who must be thought of, but the dentist must be kept in mind. Most of the time, however, it is a matter of the pupil, child, or adult, is good for you too.

Are the feet in comfortable condition? Instructing footmen cause an agony of discomfort. The entrapment of footmen can overcome these disabilities.

In this connection, do not forget the importance of well-fitting shoes. Perhaps during the summer season and half worn-out shoes have been worn. Make sure that the new school shoes are comfortable. Think, too, about the face and parts of the body. Your doctor is a good friend just now. Have

OUR LESSON IN FORESTS

An outstanding example of the value of conservation is shown today in the national forests of the United States. And but for the Act of 1891, granting the president the right to set aside such forests, the threatened exhaustion of our lumber supply would be almost at hand.

There are now more than 300,000 square miles of national forests, providing watershed protection, timber and game. The various states have added to their own forest holdings until today more than 10,000,000 acres are so administered.

In addition to protecting the trees from fire and depredation, the United States Forest Service now supervises grazing and lumbering privileges, conducts experiments, plants and co-operates in productive methods and elimination of waste.

The forests have taught us a wonderful lesson in conservation.

MONOTONOUS ROUTINE

Because he was "tired of this monotonous routine," a physician in a Pennsylvania town ended his life the other day. He had found in the human spectacle merely an unchanging series of events, dull and uninteresting, empty of inspiration and surprise.

The monotonous routine — the miracle of a birth; the fearful and wonderful mystery of our making —

The marvel of a mountain morning, of a seaside sunset, wild flowers in a mountain cranny, of trees and clouds and rain —

The thunderous legions of the sky sending barrages of crackling fire into the heart of a mighty forest —

A child with eyes aglow giving to a beggar in the street the coin that had been saved for treasured sweets —

Lovers on a park bench in the moonlight, with soft music stealing from a nearby pavilion where dancing feet keep a merry beat —

Men with planes and ships flinging their brave challenge at the Poles, defying winds that blow men flat and cold that eats its way through clothing of the heaviest skins —

A doctor, slipping his knife into a man's skull and restoring the faculty by which man differs from horses and cattle, or strengthening the limbs that cruel disease deformed —

A family in poverty lifted into the light by an "unknown" friend —

A truck driver halting his ponderous machine that laughing children may cross the street in safety —

A boy leading a blind man across the street, and a man who can't swim lapsing into the surf, hoping against hope to save one drowning —

A lad from the cornfields of Iowa and a young urchin from the crowded streets of New York chosen to lead two great national parties in a contest for the presidency —

Monotonous routine? Rather, miracles!

TRIBUTE TO CAESAR

Julius Caesar has been dead and gone for 19 centuries, but the world still pays tribute to him, according to the National Committee on Calendar Simplification.

The committee, composed of many prominent men in different walks of life, and headed by Geo. Eastman, the Rochester Camera manufacturer, points out that while Caesar was a good general and politician he was a terrible calendar maker. Julius Caesar, in 46 B. C., constructed the calendar we're using now.

Caesar took the Egyptian calendar, composed of 12 months of 30 days each, with five festival holidays at the end of the year, and added those five extra days into the months so they would run odd and even in length, because it was "lucky" to have odd numbers. He had one of these lucky months, July, his birth month, named after himself.

In 28 A. C., the committee finds,

A FORGOTTEN PATH

The little path where once I trod, a boy—
Running across the road
To fairyland
Where dwelt a thousand
Forest Ghosts of Fancies;
And also ran
My little Brook of Dreams—
Ah, where is it!

And then—
There in the dusty
Road
Where once it passed,
I saw the answer
Written in a million
Sordid footprints—

An army passing by,
Just yesterday,
Had carried Fancies
And my little path
Away!

COUNTRY CLUB'S DELEGATION HAS REAL CORN ROAST

Enjoy Party Staged By Jackson Club; Many Attend From This City.

Members of the Pickaway Country Club who went to the corn roast and barbecue at Jackson Wednesday, enjoyed the big day and all the entertainment that had been planned by the Jackson Country club committee. Mr. Felix Caldwell and Mr. Walter Kinder went to the club early in the morning and played golf, while some of the other local members joined in the game in the afternoon.

The women from Circleville played bridge in the afternoon, and everyone enjoyed the splendid dinner in the evening, and the dancing and music that followed.

Among the Circleville club members who were present were, Dr. and Mrs. D. V. Courtwright, Felix Caldwell, Walter Kinder, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Weldon, Mrs. Emma Joseph, Miss Fanny Joseph, Miss Helen Joseph, Miss Helen Hoffman, D. D. Dowden and Sam Joseph; Max Friedman, of Circleville, and a member of the Chillicothe Country Club, also was a visitor. Harry Yoakum, the Circleville caddy master, was present, and received some good points from the Jackson caddy master.

HOLD RITES FOR MR. PETERS TODAY

Honorary pallbearers for George S. Peters, former Columbus mayor and retired attorney and also native of Pickaway-co. who died Monday at his home, 891 E. Broad st. are: William R. Pomerene, James I. Boulger and David T. Keating, former partners; Frederick W. Freeman, Charles W. Miller, Judge John E. Slater, George T. Spahr, Ralph E. Hoffines, Harry W. Runkle, Frank Talmadge, William B. Morris and William Harvey Jones.

Funeral services were held at 4 p. m., Thursday at the residence Rev. Frank H. Throop of Central Presbyterian church officiating. Burial was in Green Lawn cemetery by the Schoedinger Co.

The deceased was a former resident of this county. He was born in Madison-twp. just across the road from the home of J. R. Noecker of this city.

Augustus Caesar named his birth month after himself, and in order to have the lucky 31 days in it, stole a day from February and tacked it onto his month, calling it August. Subsequently, to satisfy landlords who complained that this made too many days in the third quarter of the year, he switched Sept. 31 to Oct. 31 and, to keep the odd and even sequence changed Nov. 31 to Dec. 31.

The committee asserts that the complex economic structure that modern progress has raised, in which accounting, statistics and comparisons count so vitally, our 2000-year-old unequal-month calendar has become costly and clumsy. One proposed solution would give us 13 months of 28 days each, with the 365th day separated as a holiday and known as "Year Day" and observed as an extra Sabbath. "Leap Year" would be transferred to June 29 and also observed as a holiday. The months then, it is pointed out, would be steady and dependable.

The committee will embody its conclusions in a report to the secretary of state in connection with an international conference it is proposed to call to decide the calendar question. The inquiry seems to have many good points.

Love's Ecstasy

by May Christie

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

ALEDA RAY, pretty country girl, working in New York as a stenographer, is in love with Gary Chester, young engineer. She is living with Marise de Rense and the latter's young, sophisticated sister, Goldie. Goldie and Clive Mortimer, ne'er-do-well Englishman, arrange a party for Smithson, wealthy rounder. Goldie, jealous of Alela, tricks her into attending the party and then notifies Chester that he will find Alela there. Alela is shocked by the "party" and tries to leave. Gary arrives and, disheveled, takes Alela home. Alela tries to explain the distasteful situation but Gary seems unconvinced. Next day Gary finds a vanity case enclosing a $50 bill, in his pocket, a memento of Smithson's party. He returns it to Alela with a curt note.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XLII.

WITH a sulky expression on her usually impudent young face, Goldie de Rense sat on the edge of the kitchen table in the basement of the house on West Fortieth street, nibbling at a cracker, sipping black coffee (she certainly required it on this "morning after") and trying not to listen to Marise!

"For once you'll hear the truth about yourself! I'm sick and tired and ashamed of your carryings on!"

"Oh, heck! Can that old stuff!"

"Don't talk to me like that! If you were only a year or two younger, I'd give you a good spanking, I declare!"

"You try it! Watch me step out forever from this old dump!"

"'Stepped' is correct! A common little high-stepper who's already—at eighteen—gone too fast and far! If I weren't so—so darned mad at you—I could cry about you!"

"Nix on the water works!"

"I'm in earnest, Goldie! A young girl coming into her home four in the morning—drunk!"

The flapper tossed her red-gold head. "What if I had a glass or two? With all of you dead ones around, and I working like a dog to help things out for you, why rouse if once in a while I do try to put a little kick into my life?"

"You've got a home, haven't you? If you want to have a good time with your friends, why don't you ask them to come here?"

Miss Goldie sniffed, impatiently. "Huh? This old joint? Fine time they'd have here, it's like a morgue!"

"It's the best I can give you, Goldie! Marise, in her heart, deeply loving this wayward sister, felt almost at the breaking-point. And I can't stand not knowing what you're doing—I fear for you—sit, and wonder, and think."

"What the eye doesn't see, the heart shouldn't grieve over!" Miss-quoted Goldie, pertly apt. Then, in a tone that was meant to be placating (it wouldn't suit her book to have a final quarrel with Marise just at this moment) she added: "Maybe I'll bring joy into the old maid's heart by suddenly marrying, and settling down!"

That brought a flood of recollection to Marise. She said, sharply: "If your mind's on that young fellow who came a couple of times to the club—the one you ogled so—you're on the wrong track! He's a gentleman—only real ladies could attract him—he's interested in Alela!"

"Prig! A fig for Miss Prunes and Prisms! If I make up my mind I want a thing, I have my way!"

"Don't be too sure. You're—ordinary, Goldie! The way you are now, a man of that sort would only make a fool—out of your kind!"

"Hum! Haw!" Goldie's green eyes narrowed. There was a venomous look in them, just like an angry cat. She reached out now to scratch with a: "The same sort of a ninny—huh?—as you're made of, by your darling Clive!"

She saw her sister wince and redden, for those claws of hers had hurt Marise.

And she was glad of it. Goldie de Rense loved no female creature—not even the one nearest and kindest to her—in this wide, wide world!

Ensued a pause in the verbal battle. Goldie sipped her coffee. She wished she had an aspirin, for her head ached.

Alela—and Gary Chester? She must further "sound" Marise.

"It was I who got Chester to bring Alela home from the party," she began tentatively. "I couldn't break away myself—so soon."

"He needed no pressing. He handed Alela out of a handsome car, as though she were a little queen—and I heard him asking her to dine with him tonight!"

This was a snub for Goldie. Maybe it would make her more amenable to decent ways?

able to recognize them. They left the slot machine behind. He followed them only to see them get in their car and drive off in the direction of Washington C. H. He thought they were driving a Ford coupe.

ROB RESTAURANT AT NEW HOLLAND

The restaurant of James Kennedy at New Holland was burglarized Tuesday night.

The marauders were discovered by Mr. Kennedy, who resides just across the alley from his restaurant. Shortly after retiring, Mr. Kennedy heard a suspicious noise emanating from the rear of his restaurant. He began to make a stir, but could not place his hand on his gun and while hunting for it, the burglars discovered that they were being observed and made their getaway, but not before they had hauled a heavy slot machine through a back window.

Mr. Kennedy emerged from his home just in time to see two men run down an alley. He was not

OHIO ELKS HAVE BIG PROGRAM ON TAP WEDNESDAY

First Business Meeting Held; Ritualistic Contest For Price Cup On.

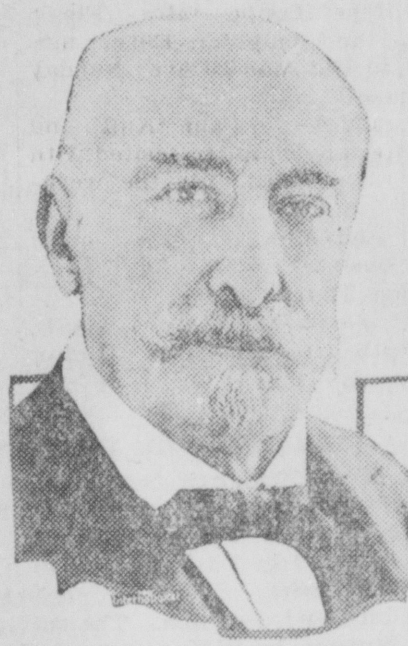

Ohio Elks' convention activities are to be divided today between Cedar Point and Sandusky.

The first business session of the meet was held this morning in the convention hall here, with President James Cooper, Newark, presiding. It was devoted in the main to routine matters, such as the reports of officers and committees.

At noon the preliminaries on the ritualistic contest for the John G. Price cup was begun in the Elks' lodge rooms at Sandusky. As in other years the competition seems to lie between Cleveland and Columbus although Cincinnati lodge indicated that it might cut considerable figure.

This afternoon there will be a meeting of the past exalted rulers' association in the auditorium here, and tonight there will be an exemplification of the ritual by the lodge winning the Price cup at Sandusky, at the conclusion of which the cup will be formally presented.

DO EYES AND TEETH FUNCTION PROPERLY?

Dr. Copeland Suggests That Youngsters Should Have Good Physical Examination Before Renewing Their Long Grind of Study.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health New York City.

A FEW days ago I saw cardinal flowers growing down by the brook. This is a sure sign that school days will begin almost immediately.

The day after Labor Day is the beginning of school for most of our children. Before school is well begun is the time when every parent should give thought to the health of the young folks.

What about the eyes? Are they in good condition? Do not reach the comfortable conclusion that eyes are normal just because there is no consciousness that the vision is bad. As a matter of fact, some of the most pronounced cases of eye strain are associated with eyes which seem to have exceptional seeing power.

In the eye is a wonderfully powerful focusing muscle. Its use the eye is forced to see very well indeed.

But to use this muscle every day is just like the baseball pitcher using his arm muscles until they refuse to go further. Then he gets a "wrist arm" and can't throw at all.

The athlete may abuse his heart until it muscles give way. He develops "athletic heart" and is out of business. The eyes may seem to have perfect vision and yet be under constant strain. Headache may be pronounced and made worse by reading or sewing. There may be pain in the neck, or, strange as it may seem, stiffness at the stomach and even vomiting.

In short eye-strain is capable of causing many number of symptoms. It may account too for apparent own health. Because of the difficulty of seeing well it is impossible to carry on the necessary studies.

But we must think of more than the eyes. What about the teeth? Are they in perfect condition? It is not alone the dentist who must be thought of but the dentist must be kept in mind. Most of the absences from school are due to toothache. Let us head them off by having the teeth in perfect order.

Are the feet in comfortable condition? Increasing tonalities cause an agony of discomfort. The chiropractor or podiatrist can overcome these disabilities.

In this connection, do not forget the importance of well-fitting shoes. Perhaps during the summer months and half worn-out shoes have been worn. Make sure that the new school shoes are comfortable. Think, too, about the arms and other parts of the body. Your doctor is a good friend just now. Have

Answers to Health Queries

W. P. Q.—What causes the eyes to itch all the time, especially at night?

A.—You may be troubled with eye strain. Consult an eye specialist for an examination before the condition becomes more serious. Perhaps if you wore a rest glass for a short time the trouble would disappear.

N. L. Q.—What can I do for alopecia areata?

A.—The first thing to do is to build up your general health. Local massage, stimulating applications and electricity are all helpful. For other information send a self-addressed stamped envelope and repeat your question.

BUY-AT-HOME IS URGED BY LOCAL STORE MANAGER
Who Also Advocates Circleville Newspaper As Best Sales Medium.
"One of the greatest movements in local success is the buy-at-home movement which has gradually been gaining impetus during the past few years," says I. W. Kinsey, manager of the J. C. Penney Co., store in this city.
"It is the keynote to a successful city or town, the expression of confidence in the town and its ability to meet the competition of the rest of the United States."
"The buy-at-home movement is a co-operative one, requiring the interested help of the local merchant, the local residents and the local newspapers and other factors in publicity."
"If the townspeople show confidence in the local merchant, he can, in turn repay their confidence by carrying a line of merchandise which will give them a range of selection and a standard of value which will equal that to be found in any city or town within trading radius."
"The local merchant owes it to the townspeople to tell them what he has in stock and what values he is able to offer. Here is where the local newspaper becomes the means of communication between the merchant and the customer."
"With modern methods of transportation, with modern buying facilities, with modern roads and conveniences, the local store in a city or town is never more than a few hours away from the very latest in materials, styles and values."
"The metropolitan city with millions of people, or the average city or town with 2500 or 25,000 people can be served equally well and to the same advantage by the manufacturers, producers and designers."
"The automobile has shown this to be true. More and more the live merchant in other lines is coming to the customer first."
"The customer reads the local newspaper, sees that right at his or her door there are selections in clothing, footwear, furniture, the entire range of necessities and luxuries, which are metropolitan in their scope."
"If, right then, he or she goes to the local store, the first step in increasing local prosperity is taken. With increase in local patronage of local stores comes an increase in money turnover inside the town."
"Steps that the local merchant may take in the buy-at-home movement include attractive and carefully prepared local advertising, tastefully arranged local window trims and high standards of service to the customer inside the store."
"This program will instill the local residents with a feeling of confidence for the local store."

Contest For Walker Cup On

AMERICANS TO MEET BRITISH GOLFERS NOW

And Yanks, Also a Winner In Event, Are Again Picked To Dominate.

By FRANK GETTY
United Press Sports Editor.
CHICAGO GOLF CLUB.
WHEATON, Ill., Aug. 30.—On the outskirts of the little Illinois town made famous by Red Grange's activities with an ice wagon, the fifth official contest for the Walker Cup began today, eight leading American amateurs meeting eight simon-pure golfers from Great Britain in a series of 36-hole two-ball foursomes.

The American team, which has won the international trophy six times—the first matches, in 1921, having been on an informal basis—was favored to register an overwhelming victory over the challengers.

Bobby Jones, whose own golf has amazed experts—the Atlanta has shot ten consecutive rounds averaging less than 70—has gathered a team for the cup defense which includes four former amateur champions of the United States. The British appeared hopelessly outclassed when they went to the first tee for the foursomes which made up the first day's program. T. Philip Perkins, familiarly known as Tim, holder of the British amateur title, was paired with Dr. Tweddell, 1927 champion, and they had for opponents Jess Sweetser and George Von Elm.

Bobby Jones elected to play on the number 2 American team with Chick Evans against Major C. O. Hazlett, several times a finalist in the British amateur championship, and W. L. Hope, Francis Quimby and his partner, Jimmy Johnston, were pitted against Tony Torrance, the Scot star, and Eustace Storey, while the last of the four foursomes to tee off included Watts Gunn and Roland MacKenzie for America against John Beck and A. R. McCallum for Great Britain.

"We will do our best and we are hopeful of bringing it off," Dr. Tweddell, the British captain said before teeing off. "We know we are up against just about the finest group of amateur golfers in the world, but golf is an uncertain game."

The Americans appeared to be doing their best not to give the impression that they thought they had things all their own way. Walker cup competition was no new thing to any of the Americans, even the babies of the team, Gunn and MacKenzie, having been tried in the fire of international competition.

The pairings for the singles matches, which will be played Friday, will be announced later in the day.

BY FRANK GETTY

If the St. Louis Cardinals finally succeed in nosing out the New York Giants in the National League pennant race a bit of the prize money should be awarded Fred Lucas, the Cincinnati Reds' star right-hander.

For "Red" (somewhere the "F" got knocked off his first name) is a big help to the Cards by virtue of his ability to beat the Giants. Not that Lucas is able to score a victory over the McGraw men merely by going out on the diamond and giving them a mean look but he usually is able to supply the proper twists that make Jackson, Cohen and Co. look bad.

After the Giants had romped over the St. Louis team recently they were pretty chesty when they arrived in Cincinnati. Lucas furnished an antidote. He stood the visitors on their heads and the winning streak of the then league leaders was crushed and crumpled.

But Red the Red does not depend alone upon the Giants when he is seeking foes to conquer. After recovering from an early season wrist injury he has come along to the forefront of pitchers in his league and is not an easy man to beat at any time.

Doyle Found Him
Red was discovered in 1923 by Larry Doyle, the former second base star of the Giants. Doyle for a short time was manager of the Nashville club of the Southern League and he decided that Lucas had big league possibilities.

McGraw was tipped to get Lucas, not only because of the latter's pitching prowess but also because of his abilities at the bat. So Jawn had his aides grab the young hurler.

But something slipped up somewhere and there were two Lucases soon reporting at the Polo grounds. One of them, a Virginia Leaguer, said hello, went out and sprained an ankle and was seen no more. The Nashville Lucas and the hero of this story had little better luck.

For although McGraw gave the youngster several chances he did not seem to be a world beater in any department and the veteran manager decided that Doyle had been over-enthusiastic. Accordingly "Red" soon found himself back in the minors.

But "Red" wouldn't be stopped. He came back to the Giants and from there went to the Boston Braves.

Bancroft Liked Him
In the spring of 1925 Dave Bancroft got the notion that Lucas would make a great second baseman. "Red" was established as the regular incumbent at second and for a spell he made good. But when the league season opened he fell down in his hitting and in his fielding as well.

Soon Lucas was sent to Seattle to help pay for Jimmy Welsh. Bannie did not want to let Lucas go, but a winter agreement with Seattle had named Lucas, and this was to be abrogated only if the redhead became a Boston regular.

Seattle was asked to let Lucas stay in Boston and accept money instead, but it refused. It was a canny and profitable refusal.

Lucas had no startling pitching record with the third place Seattles; he won nine and lost five and pitched only five complete games. He finished nine. But his earned run record was brilliant—2.82.

Scouts coming east from the coast brought the news that Lucas was the best looking prospect in the Pacific Coast League.

The Cincinnati club made a deal for the redhead—and now we find the pitcher who Larry Doyle discovered winning for the Rhinelanders.

ATTEMPTS TO SWIM CHANNEL FAILURE

CAPE CRIS NEZ, France, Aug. 30.—Two attempts to swim the English channel apparently had been abandoned early today.

Miss Amy Meynell, who started at 6:45 p. m., was forced to abandon her attempt at midnight. At the same time the Hollander, Alexander Bakker, was reported three miles out but he was not seen at dawn and it was assumed he had abandoned the attempt.

The channel had become rough through the night and the current this morning was unfavorable. The Frenchman, Georges Pouillet, decided to postpone his attempt.

ARTIST TO PAINT GENE TUNNEY NOW

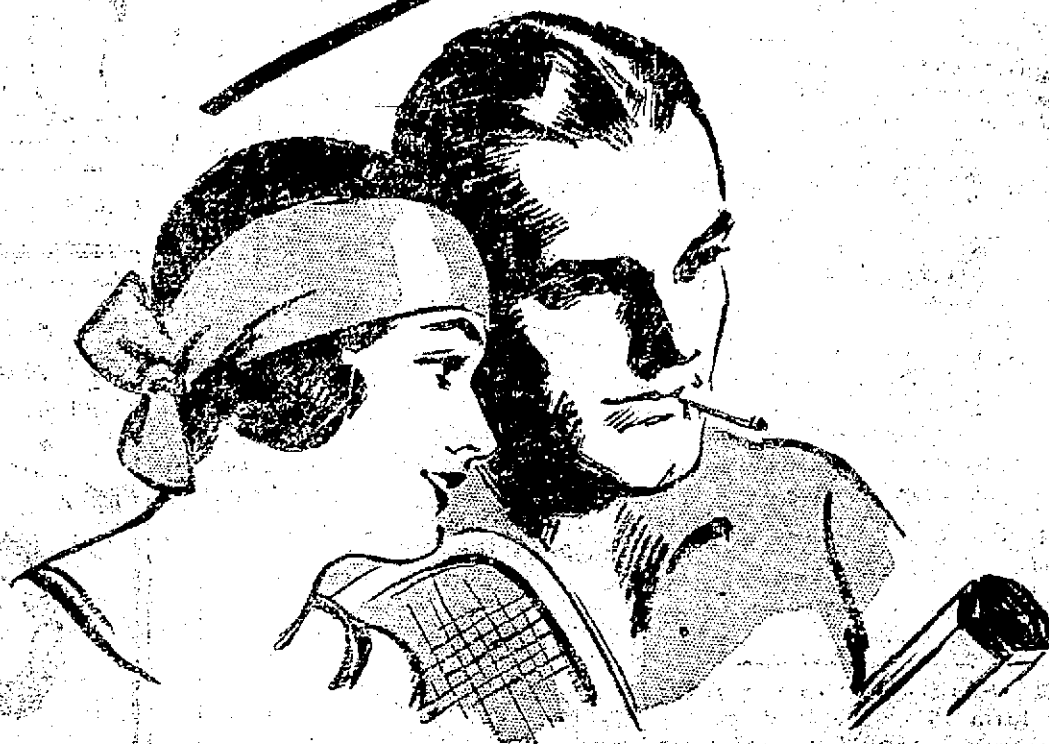

LONDON, Aug. 30.—New fame and an unusual honor came to Gene Tunney today.

Sir John Lavery, eminent portrait painter, announced that he is going to paint the former heavy-weight champion for the 1929 Royal Academy.

Sir John, who attended last night's dinner at which Tunney was entertained by a group of prominent men and astounded them by the brilliance of his address, called Tunney's speech, "one of the most remarkable on the psychology of the ring I have ever heard."

Tunney was spending the day motoring in Surrey before his departure for the continent.

A Delightful Homecoming

Getting home from a week-end outing is the best part of the entire trip, especially if there is an automatic refrigerator in the kitchen. Here is the first picture of the New Frigidaire, announced last week by General Motors. It is amazingly quiet and will make ice cubes quickly in a room temperature of 100 degrees.

Proven in numerous test rooms and radically different from all preceding models, it is the product of experience gained in sixteen years of research and experiment and the manufacture of more than 600,000 automatic refrigerators. It is presented by Frigidaire Corporation in nineteen different models.

Contest For Walker Cup On

AMERICANS TO MEET BRITISH GOLFERS NOW

And Yanks, Also a Winner In Event, Are Again Picked To Dominate.

By FRANK GETTY
United Press Sports Editor.
CHICAGO GOLF CLUB.
WHEATON, Ill., Aug. 30.—On the outskirts of the little Illinois town made famous by Red Grange's activities with an ice wagon, the fifth official contest for the Walker Cup began today, eight leading American amateurs meeting eight simon-pure golfers from Great Britain in a series of 36-hole two-ball foursomes.

The American team, which has won the international trophy six times—the first matches, in 1921, having been on an informal basis—was favored to register an overwhelming victory over the challengers.

Bobby Jones, whose own golf has amazed experts—the Atlantic has shot ten consecutive rounds averaging less than 70—has gathered a team for the cup defense which includes four former amateur champions of the United States. The British appeared hopelessly outclassed when they went to the first tee for the foursomes which made up the first day's program. T. Philip Perkins, familiarly known as Tim, holder of the British amateur title, was paired with Dr. Tweddell, 1927 champion, and they had for opponents Jess Sweetser and George Von Elm.

Bobby Jones elected to play on the number 2 American team with Chick Evans against Major C. O. Hazlet, several times a finalist in the British amateur championship, and W. L. Hope, Francis Onimet and his partner, Jimmy Johnston, were pitted against Tony Torrance, the Scot star, and Eustace Storey, while the last of the four foursomes to tee off included Watts Gunn and Roland MacKenzie for America against John Beck and A. R. McCallum for Great Britain.

"We will do our best and we are hopeful of bringing it off," Dr. Tweddell, the British captain said before teeing off. "We know we are up against just about the finest group of amateur golfers in the world, but golf's an uncertain game."

The Americans appeared to be doing their best not to give the impression that they thought they had things all their own way. Walker cup competition was no new thing to any of the Americans, even the babies of the team, Gunn and MacKenzie, having been tried in the fire of international competition.

The pairings for the singles matches, which will be played Friday, will be announced later in the day.

WORKERS SEARCH FOR MORE BODIES

SHELBY, N. C., Aug. 29.—Workers today continued searching in the debris of brick, plaster and twisted planks—all that remained of three buildings which collapsed yesterday killing six and injuring 12 persons—for other bodies believed buried.

The First National Bank, the Coode Grocery Company and the Hadley Tailor Shop—all two-story buildings, collapsed when a retaining wall in the basement of the tailor shop gave way.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

BY EDSON R. WAITE

LOUIS F. GRILL, MANAGING EDITOR OF THE MILES-CITY (MONT.) STAR, SAYS:

THAT when you join up with a community building crew and build constructively, you are accomplishing something that will stand on foundations of time.

Among the things that should be stressed in community building is the establishing of a town forest; if you want to crown your labors with beauty. Community building is an active enterprise. It contemplates that every citizen become an earnest and energetic builder, not for a day or even a year, but forever because what is built constructively is alive, for life has been injected into the effort.

It is one of the compensations of effort that whatever is achieved a certain pride radiates from it, not to eulogize the builder, but to stand as an emblem of some worthy object sought to be emphasized.

Anticipations are part of the ennobling forces that move a builder to attempt to do something, not in the spirit of rivalry but in the sense of an individual contribution, which added to the whole effort will create a community with distinction.

Loyalty is the key that unlocks the door of success in all community building effort. Beyond the portal appear the tapestries denoting beauty or arrangement, the ceiling of ambitious attainment and the marble floor of solid achievement.
